arj (AH'r-j)

large	It's not wise to carry large sums of cash around with you.
charge	My dad hates to pay cash. He would rather charge things.
charging	Who went charging up San Juan Hill? Teddy?
recharge	Every spring, we have to recharge all our batteries.
discharge	The U.S. Army decided to discharge the injured soldier.
discharging	The private injured himself while discharging his duties.
overcharge	I hate it when a store decides to deliberately overcharge you.
barge	Have you ever been on a barge?
barging	You shouldn't just go barging into people's houses or rooms.
Marge	Marge doesn't like people to barge in on her when she's reading.
margin	I like to write notes in the margin of books that I'm reading.

ark (AH'r-k)

park	You shouldn't park where there are NO PARKING signs.
spark	One spark from a sparkler sparked a grass fire last July.
bark	Our dog doesn't bark. He growls.
barking	As long as a dog is barking, it can't bite.
mark	When the teacher gave Mark Marx a high mark , Mark's marks markedly improved.
marks	Did Groucho Marx receive high marks in school?
dark	My little sister is still afraid of the dark.
darker	It's darker at night when it's cloudy out.
hark	Did herald angels sing "Hark!?"? Hark means "Pay attention!"
stark	Adam and Eve were created stark naked.
ark	Have you heard Bill Cosby's version of Noah and his ark?
lark	Clark has a lark. I threw that one in for a lark.
shark	I can't believe anybody would want a shark for a pet.
hallmark	What exactly is a hallmark? Goofy sentences, that sometimes make you think, is my hallmark.
